Exploring Eldership- Elder as Leader

We explore together challenges raised in the statement

Exploring Eldership- Elder as Pastor

We consider some of the skills we need to develop as pastors within the life of our congregations. One aspect of the role of eldership, which gives satisfaction, is visiting their district. Not all elders will necessarily be asked to visit a district. Some may exercise their pastoral responsibility, for example, in community involvement, worship development or working with young people. However, there are caring skills in common.
